

Community Involvement

Making a Difference in Our Communities

At Alden, we're helping to fight hunger and promote healthy lifestyles. According to the USDA, nearly one in six people in the U.S. are food insecure, and nearly one in five children. As an innovative consumer packaged food company, we offer our food and nutrition expertise to help address these issues.

Community Partnerships

Fighting hunger & encouraging healthy lifestyles our partnerships work to give families a hand up rather than a handout. We focus our efforts to support nonprofit organizations working to eliminate disparities through activities that create lasting change.

Promoting Volunteer Service to Drive Change

Whether it's supporting homeless families, mentoring our youth, or building a home, our employees believe in giving back to their communities through donations of time, talent and money. We're proud of how our employees come together and make a difference on the journey to the common good.
