

CULTURE FIX

THIS MONTH IS FULL OF GLITZ AND GLAMOUR – THE PERFECT ACCOMPANIMENT TO A SPARKLING SEASON OF CELEBRATION, SAYS BRYONY GOOCH

Turner Prize 2022: Veronica Ryan installation view at Tate Liverpool

PHOTOGRAPHY: ELLIE SMITH, SONAL BAKARINA/MATT GREENWOOD/TATE, NINA PAPIOREK, STEPHANIE BRANCHU/NETFLIX, EMILY ARAGONES, PETE LE MAY, TATE PHOTOGRAPHY (MATT GREENWOOD)

TV Emily In Paris

The cameras may have rolled over the summer, but we know little more about Season three than the fact that Lucien Laviscount (who plays London boy Alfie) has been promoted from guest star to series regular. We can only hope for more sartorial statements on the level of last season's chequered bucket hat. Streaming on Netflix from 21st December

ART Turner Prize 2022

The coveted art prize returns to Tate Liverpool for the first time in 15 years, showcasing the work of the four shortlisted artists, from Veronica Ryan's combination of fabricated objects and natural forms, to Ingrid Pollard's anthropomorphic sculptures. Runs until 19th March 2023. Visit tate.org.uk/whats-on/tate-liverpool/turner-prize-2022

FILM I Wanna Dance With Somebody

Anthony McCarten, the writer of 2018's Bohemian Rhapsody, turns his attention to another pop icon in this 'no holds barred' biopic exploring Whitney Houston's rise to fame. Naomi Ackie shines as Houston, whose original vocals are used throughout, while Stanley Tucci is uncanny as producer Clive Davis. In cinemas 26th December

THEATRE The Fir Tree

Cosy up with a hot chocolate in a forest... that happens to have been intricately handcrafted at Shakespeare's Globe in London. Complete with carol singing and puppetry, this reimagining of Hans Christian Andersen's festive fairy tale is perfect for all the family. Runs 15th to 31st December. Visit shakespearesglobe.com/whats-on/the-fir-tree-2022