A BABY born after his mother was shot and killed with a crossbow at her home in east London was battling for life in hospital today.

The boy was delivered by Caesarean section after Sana Muhammad, 35, who was eight months pregnant, was attacked in front of her other five children in the kitchen of her house in Ilford yesterday morning.

Mrs Muhammad was shot shortly after 7.35 am as she did the washing-up, her husband told the Evening Standard.

Scotland Yard said the woman suffered a wound to the abdomen during the attack in the £500,000 house in Newbury Park.

Police said the suspect was known to the dead woman and no one else is being sought in connection with the attack. He is believed to be the victim's former partner.

Mrs Muhammad was taken to hospital and
