

Transitioning from a breakthrough act to a household name in hip-hop and EDM, Salva proves there's nothing that can't be turned into art. Born and bred in Chicago, Salva's unforgettable presence in the music industry has touched the United States' music hotspots including Miami, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. With a Grammy nomination for Album Of The Year for ScHoolboy Q's Oxymoron and an RIAA certified Gold® record for his single "Old English," Salva's star-studded discography includes collaborations with hip-hop heavyweights such as Young Thug, E-40, Freddie Gibbs, A$AP Ferg, and more, speaking for his sought-after touch on hip-hop and dance music. He's also lent his signature sound for official remixes for Rihanna, Deftones, Shlohmo, Brodinski, and more.

As a Red Bull Music Academy alumnus and industry trendsetter, Salva has made a thrilling impact in the electronic music scene with his own productions and his command inside the DJ booth. He set the tone for his career in EDM when he reached the number one chart position on SoundCloud in 2012, spurring a wealth of opportunities including the time he was enlisted as the opening DJ for Shakira's El Dorado world tour, performing ahead of the pop star across Europe in 2018. You can find Salva's genre-bending DJ sets on the coveted airwaves of BBC Radio 1 and 1Xtra, Power 106, Red Bull Radio, and more.

Beyond his notable production credits, Salva has redefined what it means to be a triple threat in the music business: he's the founder of SourceCode, an agency specializing in music production, creative direction and talent procurement for music-driven marketing; he's also the founder of dance music imprint Club OS and hip-hop imprint Peacemaker. Salva possesses a number of personalities in the creative space, including his techno alias DJ Salvation and his persona for music video direction, Lil Scorcese. Owning his identity as a devoted husband and father working in the music business and beyond, Salva's extraordinary life and career serve as the blueprint for true success as a hopeless romantic for all things artistic.