COPS WILL WEAR BULLETPROOF SKIN

SOLDIERS, police officers and heads of state will soon be able to make themselves bulletproof, without the need for bulky body armor.

Researchers with the Forensic Genomics Consortium in the Netherlands have genetically altered goats to create milk containing the same protein as spider silk. It's possible to extract the protein, weave it into a material 10 times stronger than steel and then blend it with human skin.

"This project is making science fiction a reality," says researcher Jalila Essaidi.

Early experiments have used a sample of bulletproof silk with human skin grown over it, like a living implant. Eventually, Essaidi and her colleagues plan to replace the keratin inside human skin with the super-tough silk protein.

"This is possible by adding the silk-producing genes of a spider to the genome of a human, creating a bulletproof human," explains Essaidi.

... made from spider silk and goat's milk!

By fusing genes from goats and spiders, researchers have made sheets of human skin bulletproof. Soon, they'll be able to splice silk-making genes into living humans.

Introducing Multiplaz 3500

The Grand Prix Award-Winning, Super-New Welding Machine with patented designs, unmatched worldwide.

The only portable plasma welding and cutting machine weighing 17.5 pounds, with a 100% 24/7 duty cycle.

Multiplaz 3500 welds, solders, brazes, hardens, and cleanses metals e.g. steel, aluminum, copper, cast iron, bronze, etc.

Capable, yet simple Multiplaz innovation uses a water and alcohol mixture for welding, instead of shielding gas, and water only for cutting any metal, including high-alloy and stainless steel.

No expensive consumables, including special electrodes, gas bottles with propane, acetylene, or oxygen create immediate savings. Per day, Multiplaz 3500 will consume only two cups of alcohol, and with heavy duty designed cathodes and nozzles, expect 10 hours before replacement.

Multiplaz 3500 uses 230/115v residential power, similar to home electric appliances.

Multiplaz users have no health issues, the ecologically-clean technology keeps air pure!
